Parent Participation Points

Parents can lower their childcare fees. Credit (participation points) can be earned toward discounts on childcare fees in two ways. The first way is to join the Parent Advisory Committee (PAC). The PAC assists with planning events and special activities for children and youth attending the Child Development Center and Summer Camp programs. The Parent Advisory Committee meets every second Wednesday of the month in building 400, from 12:00 to 1:00.

Parent participation points can also be earned through the volunteer program for parents with children enrolled in the Child Development Center and Summer Camp programs. For more information about parent participation points, contact or visit the Child Development Center or the Central Registration Office.
